GSA Schedule Consolidation

General Services Administration (GSA) began the implementation of the Federal Marketplace (FMP) Strategy in 2019 with the goal of “modernizing and simplifying the buying and selling experience for customers, suppliers, and acquisition professionals.” One of the four pillars of the FMP Strategy is the Multiple Award Schedules (MAS) Consolidation that aims to consolidate the 24 existing GSA federal supply schedules into a single multiple-award schedule.

MAS Consolidation Three-Phase Plan

GSA will consolidate over 900 Special Item Numbers (SINs), over $30 billion in FY19 contract action obligations, into one schedule containing about 300 SINs. This will streamline the market research process for federal acquisition personnel and allow for increased efficiencies on the front end of procurement lead times. This will also reduce duplication and ambiguity in service listings that existed across multiple schedules allowing federal programs to pursue integrated business solutions rather than siloed, one-off procurements, thus increasing federal purchasing power.

The MAS Consolidation will also ease vendor access to the federal market by removing obsolete contract terms and conditions, which varied across procurement schedules prior to consolidation, from current contract awards and provide a single vendor ramp-on process. This will expand the government’s supplier base and allow for increased competition at the task order level resulting in potential government savings.
